Competition and Markets Authority

The Competition and Markets Authority (CMA) launched a market study into the supply of funerals and related goods and services in June 2018. The CMA wanted to look at concerns around a number of issues, namely that funeral prices were too high, that there were significant price differentials across areas in relation to burial and cremation fees, that there was a lack of transparency around pricing information, that consumers had difficulty in comparing the price of 'funeral packages' and concerns around consumer protection in relation to pre-paid funeral plans.

We, at the Heart of England Co-operative Society, being owned by our members and as a consumer co-operative responded to the CMA's questions stating that we were very transparent with our pricing, in fact we were one of the first funeral directors locally to publish our funeral prices online, a move that many, but not all have since followed. We understand that bereavement is a difficult time for most and that we have a responsibility to help our client families charter what may be unfamiliar ground, by giving clear advice based on what the client family require.

In March 2019 the CMA published its final report and appointed an inquiry group who were tasked with gathering more information and making recommendations to the market. After numerous further reports and an extension of the timeframe due to Covid-19 the CMA published their Final report in December 2020 stating that they would issue a number of 'sunlight' remedies. They are the mandatory introduction of a standardised price list that all funeral directors must use, the requirement that crematoriums provide a price list, that funeral directors disclose certain financial information to the CMA, that the solicitation of business is prohibited, and that a registration scheme is put in place as a first step towards broader regulatory regime.

We welcome any steps that make this difficult time easier for our clients and show overleaf the CMA required Standardised Price List. The pages following on show the price for all our services and the products we have traditionally provided to our client families, to better help you make an informed decision about the type of service you may wish to arrange and the associated costs.

Standardised price list

All funeral directors are legally required to publish this Price List for a standardised set of products and services. This is to help you think through your options and make choices, and to let you compare prices between different funeral directors (because prices can vary).
